To whomsoever it may concern

It is my great pleasure to certify that the Aadhar Charitable Trust , a voluntary non governmental organization is providing help to the poor cancer patients as well as cancer preventive awareness material to general population . I have the privilege and great satisfaction to send my poor cancer patients to Aadhar Charitable Trust where they are given very costly chemotherapy drugs amounting to thousands of rupees in its cost . The readable cancer awareness material provided by Aadhar Charitable Trust is distributed free of cost from my Cancer OPD as well as from the Gynec. OPD in Lok Nayak Hospital .

It is also important to remind ourselves that certain types of cancer have started occurring more frequently in our Indian population and the conventional radiotherapy or chemotherapy treatments are not adequate. In addition to this the treatment of cancer as such has become very expensive and is undoubtedly beyond the reach of affordability for a common Indian whose monthly source of income is not more than INR 3000/- . In such a situation spending medicines worth INR 3000/- per day is a dream fulfilled by NGO like Aadhar Charitable Trust.

It is also important to remember that in metropolises people are in habit of spending thousands on effluent activities such as shopping , drinking and eating or even bursting crackers worth million of rupees to ashes in one night on festival days – Deepawali, Marriages or election victory but there are almost non who think of helping poor by donating to organizations like Aadhar Charitable Trust. I am given to under stand that in such a situation the founders of Aadhar Charitable Trust have taken the onus on themselves to assure that the funds are enough to help poor cancer patients as well as to provide knowledgeable reading material such as "Patient Information Books" and cancer awareness books to the cancer patients and cancer prone population.

May God help them in their philanthropic endeavors?

Manoj Sharma
